

Название публикации:

Formation of student social and professional activity in university educational space

Авторы:

Kosarenko, N.N.a, Charikova, I.N.b, Matvievsкая, E.G.c, Markelova, Y.V.d, Zatsepina, M.B.e, Kulanina, I.N.e

- a) Department of State-Legal and Criminal Law Disciplines, Plekhanov Russian University of Economics, Moscow, Russian Federation
- b) Department of Informatics, Orenburg State University, Orenburg, Russian Federation
- c) Department of Preschool, Correctional, Additional Education and Problems of Education, Orenburg State Pedagogical University, Orenburg, Russian Federation
- d) Department of Secondary Professional Education, Kumertau branch of Orenburg State University, Kumertau, Russian Federation
- e) Department of Primary Education, Moscow Region State University, Moscow, Russian Federation

Сведения об издании:

Espacios

Volume 39, Issue 20, 2018, Номер статьи 7

Аннотация:

The purpose of the paper is to consider the student social and professional activity as a dynamic personality trait reflecting its social and professional orientation and expressing its readiness to integrate effectively into various types of life activities. The paper presents the poly-component structure of student social and professional activity: motivational and value-based, orientation-aimed, content-gnostic, operational activity-based, organizationalcommunicative, reflexive-evaluative components; structural and functional model of student social and professional activity formation, revealing the purpose, objectives; principles: the social and professional orientation of the educational process; unity of respect and exactingness to students; combination of pedagogical leadership with the development of initiative and creativity; connection of the educational process with the life of the university and the society; content, stages, criteria, levels and conditions of student social and professional activity formation. The scientific and methodical resource presented in the paper creates comfortable conditions for modern specialist formation with a high level of social and professional activity. © 2018.

Ключевые слова:

Poly-component structure of social and professional activity, Social and professional activity, Structural and functional model, Student youth, University educational space