

Название публикации:

The simulation of the development of innovation systems in the countries-participants of the union state

Авторы:

Abramov, R., Sokolov, M., Surilov, M., Morozov, I.

Department of State and Municipal Administration, Plekhanov Russian University of Economics, Moscow, Russian Federation

Сведения об издании:

International Journal of Mechanical Engineering and Technology

Volume 9, Issue 7, July 2018, Pages 1112-1119

Аннотация:

The article describes the features of the efficiency of energy fuel use due to The article defines the ways of using new materials in civil engineering in the formation of management decisions. The authors present an opportunity for the integration of new technologies in civil engineering. The new technologies of concrete production, other materials that ensure the quality of engineering structures and form new ways of representation in the development of individual elements of the use of innovative technologies are studied. The forms of integration in various forms of joint activity are determined.

Ключевые слова:

Innovation, New construction