Аннотация:

The article examines the mechanism of organizing credit and financial services for small forms of management in the agro-industrial complex of the Russian Federation at the expense of current state support program by means of concessional lending, as well as by means of developing a financing scheme through addressing microfinance organizations (credit cooperatives). The authors analyze the experience and results of the agricultural sector development during the last agricultural season. This resulted in the identification of the main problems, faced by the farmers. The paper also presents an algorithm for collecting documents for obtaining a concessional loan in the agroindustrial sector within the framework of the current state support program for the sector development. The authors analyze lending practices of credit cooperatives for small forms of management in the agro-industrial sector as a rapid funding instrument.
