

Название публикации:

Geoinformation services in a spatial economy

Авторы:

Shaytura, S.V.a, Kozhaev, Y.P.b, Ordov, K.V.c, Vintova, T.A.c, Minitaeva, A.M.d, Feoktistova, V.M.a

- a. Russian State University of Tourism and service, Cherkizovo, Pushkino District, Glavnaya St., 99, Moscow Oblast, Russian Federation
- b. Russian State University of Physical Education, Sport, Youth and Tourism, Sireneviy Blvd., 4, Moscow, Russian Federation
- c. Plekhanov Russian University of Economics, Stremyannyi Lane, 36, Moscow, Russian Federation
- d. Bauman Moscow State Technical University, 2-ya Baumanskaya St., 5, Moscow, Russian Federation

Сведения об издании:

International Journal of Civil Engineering and Technology

Volume 9, Issue 2, February 2018, Pages 829-841

Аннотация:

The paper reviews the use of geoinformation services in a spatial economy. The main definitions of a geoinformation service based on service, geoinformatics, spatial positioning, space monitoring are given. The main components of a geoinformation service are shown. The composition of the main web services is revealed. A review of the spheres of application of geoinformation services in the spatial economy is given.

Ключевые слова:

3D modeling, Algorithm, Cadastre, Computer modeling, Ecology, Geodata, Geoinformation, Geoinformation service, Geoinformation system, Geoservice, GIS, Global positioning, Information modeling, Service, Service, Space monitoring, Spatial economy, System, Web service